MOST SUCCESSFUL

STATE TEACHERS' MEETING BEST EVER HELD IN STATE.

OVER 4,000 TEACHERS

Were in Attendance—President Richardson and C. E. Wells Are Back From St. Louis.

President Ira Richardson and Librarian C. Edwin Wells of the Normal school returned Saturday morning from St. Louis, where they have been attending the state teachers' meeting, which will close today.

Mr. Richardson says that this meeting was the most successful ever held in the state and there were 4,000 teachers in attendance. The association will meet in St. Joseph next year.

The association Friday afternoon ratified a resolution favoring simplified spelling. The resolution carried by a vote of 284 to 256. The president estimated that more than 5,000 teachers were present in the Coliseum when the vote was taken, indicating that hundreds had not voted.

The convention will close its three days' session late today, following an election of officers. Unless the convention should reject the recommendations of the committee on nominations, which has been rare in the history of the association, Prof. C. A. Phillips of the Warrensburg normal school faculty will be elected president of the state teachers' organization.

Other nominations considered practically equivalent to election are:

First vice president, I. I. Cammack, superintendent of schools in Kansas City; second vice president, S. A. Baker, superintendent of schools in Jefferson City; third vice president, A. R. Coburn, superintendent of schools in Chillicothe; treasurer, L. W. Rader, principal secretary, J. A. Whiteford, superintendent of schools in St. Joseph. Members executive committee: Professor R. H. Emberson of Missouri university and William P. Evans, state superintendent of public schools.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

President Ira Richardson and Librarian C. E. Wells returned from the State Teachers' association at St. Louis last night. Mr. Wells while there spoke to the library section on "The Problem of the Rural School Libraries and How the Normal School Libraries May Help." It is thought that most of the other Normal school teachers from Maryville who attended the meeting will return either tonight or tomorrow. President Richardson reported a very successful and enjoyable meeting.

The literary societies gave very interesting programs at their regular time of meeting, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. These societies are growing and the interest being manifested in the work would indicate that the organizations really mean something to their members. The programs given Thursday are as follows:

The Eureka society:
Piano solo—Allie Jean Fraser.
A prophecy—Anna Bainum.
Paper on Immigration—Mattie Simmons.

Debate, "Resolved, that children under 14 years of age should not work in factories"—Affirmative, Orlo Quinn and Frank McKee; negative, Clarence Perry and Ella Richards. The debate was won by the affirmative.

The Philomathean.
Piano solo—Miss Nelson.
Current Events—Miss Metzgar.
Cornet solo—Ray McPherron.

Debate, "Resolved, that the United States should further restrict immigration"—Affirmative, Harvey Watson; negative, Francis Ritchie. The affirmative won the debate.

The Philomathean society gave a short program during the assembly hour Wednesday morning. Chastain Harrell, the president of the society, had charge of the program, which was as follows:

THE HIGH SCHOOL WON.

Defeated the Hopkins High School Team by a Score of 34 to 16.

The high school basketball team defeated the Hopkins high school team yesterday evening by a tally of 34-16. The local team was strengthened by Vandersloot, the Normal's star forward, who is taking some work at the high school this year and expects to graduate there at the end of the semester. Vandersloot was protested by the Hopkins team on the grounds of being a coach, but as he had received no money for coaching he was declared eligible.

The game was scrappy from start to finish, with the Maryville boys a little in the lead all the time. The first half ended 16-8.

The Hopkins team put up a plucky fight, but were not quite in the high school's class with Vandersloot in the game.

Murray showed up well for the Maryville lads, getting a total of eight field goals, while Rickard and Clutter did the majority of the point getting for the Hopkins team. Summary:

Maryville—Vandersloot, Murray, forwards; Thompson, center; Scott, David, Miller, guards.

Hopkins—Clutter, Rickard, forwards; Blanchard, center; Grote, Hanna, Griffith, guards.

Field goals—Vandersloot 6, Murray 8, Thompson, David, Clutter 3, Rickard, Blanchard.

Free throws—Vandersloot 2, Rickard 6.

Referee—Lowry of Hopkins.
Umpire—Busby of Maryville.

LOTS OF BUILDING IN CRESTON.

Two Wholesale Houses and the Biggest Produce Storage House in the Country Going Up.

C. C. Young of Creston, a former Maryville contractor, visited over Friday night in Maryville with M. H. Borrusch. He went on to St. Joseph Saturday morning to visit his mother, Mrs. Louise Young, and attend to business matters.

Mr. Young reports this a good building year for Creston. He has put in eleven new store fronts that are up to any in the state, and others equally as fine were put in by other contractors. The Clarinda Poultry company is putting up a five-story storage house, with basement, that is 90x100 feet, and when finished will be the best building of its kind in the United States, and, perhaps, in the world, and the Iowa Produce company is also putting up a great building there for its business. The Merrill wholesale grocery company of Ottumwa is building an immense wholesale house there to supply its patrons in that territory, and there have been many nice residences built.

Announce Birth of Son.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph D. Randolph announce the birth of a son, born to them Friday at the Buchanan Street Methodist church parsonage. He has been named Joseph Drane Randolph.

A POULTRY SHOW FOR IMPROVEMENT

THE ANNUAL SHOW OF N. W. MISSOURI ASSOCIATION TO BE HERE.

MANY PRIZES OFFERED

Among These Are Several Silver Trophy Cups and Cash Premiums—Will Be in December.

The fourteenth annual show of the Northwest Missouri Poultry association will be held in this city from December 2 to 6, and expects to be the biggest one ever given in this section of the country. Last year there were 700 birds entered in the show, but the association is working to secure 1,000 birds for this year's show.

Many prizes are being offered by the association and the business men of the city. There are to be given away several fine silver trophy cups and large cash premiums to the boys and girls who have manifested an interest in pure bred poultry.

Judge E. M. Quay of LaPorte, Ind., will act as judge during the show.

The state association is going to offer four grand silver cups as prizes to be competed for by members of the state association only.

Each boy or girl who received free eggs for hatching from members of the association is required to exhibit at least a trio of birds at this show, being one cockerel and two pullets, and as many more as desired.

The association offers to be competed for by these boys and girls only the following: For best trio, $5; for second best, $4; for third best, $3; for fourth best, $2, and for fifth best, $1. The state association will also give to the boy exhibiting the largest and best display $5, and the girl exhibiting the largest and best display will also get $5.

CHEAP RATIONS FOR DAIRY COWS

The Suggestions as Offered by Dairy Department of the Agricultural College.

P. M. Brandt of the state college of agriculture writes as follows:

This will be a hard winter for the dairy farmers of Missouri. The price of feed is unusually high, and the price of butter fat is low. The average daily production of the cows is low as a result of short pasture during the summer. The best Missouri dairyman can hope to do is to pay the feed bill and bring his cows through the winter in good condition.

From knowledge gained on a recent trip through the principal dairy sections of the state the following feeding suggestions are offered by the dairy department of the Missouri college of agriculture:

Many farmers have corn silage, timothy hay and wheat, but are short on corn. With wheat cheaper than corn pound for pound wheat is the more economical feed. It has about the same feeding value as corn. With the above feeds cotton seed meal is the only feed that need be bought. The wheat and cotton seed meal should be mixed in the same proportions as corn and cotton seed meal: Three parts chopped wheat to one part cotton seed meal. A cow giving two gallons of milk a day should receive daily about 35 pounds of silage, all the hay she will eat and about 5½ pounds of the grain mixture. The grain in this case is fed at the rate of one pound for each three pounds of milk the cow produces. If cowpea or clover hay is available and there is no silage, the hay will take the place of the silage. A cow will eat between 15 and 20 pounds of good hay each day.

If corn fodder and timothy or cane hay is the only roughage available the cows should receive all they will eat and the grain in this case should be fed one pound for about every two pounds of milk the cow produces daily.

These two rations meet the conditions on the majority of the dairy farms in Southern Missouri. There are some communities, however, where more and better feed is available. The dairy department of the Missouri college of agriculture will help figure out balanced rations for any one asking for information. Inquirers should give the kinds and prices of feeds available when writing for this information.

Guests From Kansas City.

Miss Ethel Paul of Kansas City arrived in Maryville Thursday evening and is the guest of Mrs. C. J. Alderman. Miss Paul came to Maryville from Omaha, where she has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Alderman.

MET LAST NIGHT

CITY COUNCIL HAD REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION.

MANY BILLS ALLOWED

Commercial Club Gets $10 a Month for Six Months—Must Pay for Sewer Connection Now.

A meeting of the city council was held Friday evening, being the regular one for the month. A large number of bills were allowed and the city officers' monthly reports were read.

The council allowed the Commercial club $10 a month for six months, such money to be used for club purposes. A committee from the Commercial club were in attendance at the council and urged that such an appropriation be made monthly by the council. There was some opposition to the plan, but not enough to defeat the proposition.

Sewer connections now will be $20, according to a motion adopted by the council. During the summer the connections were made free of charge, but now they will have to pay the money if they want the connections. The connections cost $25.

Dr. A. T. Fisher, who was appointed assistant physician at the state hospital No. 2, resigned as city physician. His resignation will take effect in ten days. Mayor Robey has not decided who he will appoint to succeed him.

An amendment was adopted to the auto ordinance in regard to observing the road laws within the city. The amendment applies to buggies, as in the original ordinance it was only for autos. The ordinance will now provide for autos, buggies and all kinds of vehicles.

The council allowed the Stauber sewer bill of $50.

The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, November 21.

ARE NOW AT WORK.

The Filters Are Being Installed—The Pumps Will Be Here Within the Next Few Days.

The filters are now being put in at the city water plant by the Pittsburgh Filtering company, which company sold the filters to the board of public works.

Word was received Saturday that the new pumps for the plant had left Dayton, O., on November 6 and will be in Maryville within the next few days. The pumps are greatly needed as the ones being used at present are old and badly worn.

WITH THE ST. JOSEPH GAZETTE.

Former Maryville Newspaper Man Now Connected as Editorial Writer on St. Joseph Paper.

Fred R. Barkhurst, who was several years ago editor of the Maryville Tribune, is now connected with the Gazette of St. Joseph as chief editorial writer. Mr. Barkhurst started his newspaper career at Forest City, having published the Press of that town in 1904-06. He was then called to Maryville and from this city, he went to Carthage, and then to Springfield, where he was connected with E. M. McJimsey's paper. The Springfield Republican, McJimsey's paper, in speaking of his work on that paper, says:

"Large numbers of people throughout this section will miss Mr. Barkhurst from Southwest Missouri newspaperdom. The combination of literary craftsmanship and newspaper ability which characterized his work, as well as the social vision which inspired his methods, has made him a strong influence in journalism throughout the state. His work at St. Joseph will release him from the strenuous grind of the administrative side of newspaper work, and afford the advantages of daytime hours and leisure to devote to literary and editorial work."

Dr. Beason is Dead.

Mrs. J. S. Clark received a telegram Saturday morning from her sister, Dr. May Beason of Newell, Ia., telling of the death of her husband, Dr. Samuel A. Beason, which occurred early Saturday morning. Dr. Beason was operated on in the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago about a week ago and his recovery was not expected. He was a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lowrey of this city.

Moberly has been getting a good deal of fun and advertising out of her annual "coon hunt," and incidentally playing some state politics perhaps, but from the press reports sent out it is evident that there was something more seductive in the hunt than the trail of a coon.

Mr. Huerta should remember that Missouri whipped Mexico once and can do it again if necessary. Col. Doniphan, with one thousand men, went down in 1846 and chased the natives until they got tired and then came home. Texas would like to take the job now, and if President Wilson doesn't want to be bothered with the Mexican situation, all he has to do is to whistle and Texas will get busy with pleasure.

In the appointment of Dr. Amos T. Fisher to be assistant physician at state hospital No. 2, at St. Joseph, by the board of managers has paid a deserved tribute to a good man and have secured the services of a valuable aid in the work of the hospital. Dr. Fisher, during his residence in Maryville has proved himself a good citizen, always in sympathy with progressive ideas and the best interests of the city and, while his appointment is pleasing to all his friends, his removal from the city will be greatly regretted.

Prof. C. A. Hawkins of this city made a well merited criticism at St. Louis of present day methods of teaching. The criticism applies not only to English but to mathematics and other studies as well. The effort to stuff young heads full of technical and advanced ideas beyond their full comprehension results in shooting over their heads. The child, no matter how bright, does not fully understand, gets a poor grade, becomes discouraged and, instead of being benefitted, is injured. The best teacher for little folks is the one who is big enough to understand the difference between the undeveloped and the mature mind and to adjust himself and his methods to meet the requirements. The primary and fundamental idea in education is to teach the young mind how to think correctly and quickly and to prepare it to properly digest and store up the information to be gathered in later years and to meet the practical problems of life to the best advantage. The child cannot run until it learns to walk. The modern schools are an improvement over the old, but the tendency is to cover too much ground and to race where they should move slowly.

Talked About Science of Health.

The Pickering Mothers' club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Wray Friday afternoon. The meeting opened with devotions led by Mrs. O. G. Null and Mrs. Laura Watson. The study for the afternoon was "Science and Health," led by Mrs. Stant Garten, who conducted a round table discussion, everyone taking part and giving her views on health and the science of it so far as she was able to understand from her own experience. The hostess served a dainty luncheon. There were three visitors, Mrs. C. G. McMillen, Mrs. Marvin Hall and Mrs. L. J. Neal.

Mrs. Nixon Was Hostess.

The W. F. M. S. society of the First M. E. church was entertained at its regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. W. Nixon. Mrs. J. T. Linville presided. With the exception of a paper by Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox on the general work of the society the meeting was taken up with hearing reports from the Des Moines branch conference in Kansas City, by the delegates, Mrs. M. D. Kemp, Mrs. J. A. Lesh and Mrs. Walter Mutz, and the conduct of the mystery box by Mrs. Linville. During the social hour the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Kissinger, Mrs. S. J. DeArmond and Mrs. W. R. Wells.

Mrs. Bower Was Hostess.

The Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church met Friday afternoon with Mrs. H. C. Bower, with seventeen members present. Mrs. J. C. Archer conducted the devotional service. Mrs. H. E. Wright gave a paper on "The Pledges of the Mormons to Secure Statehood and Their Attitude Toward Them." Mrs. J. A. Lesh read a story on missionary boxes, and Mrs. R. S. Branigan a paper on Oriental schools. The program closed with a solo by Miss Nellie Wray, entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." Christy, Mrs. Walter Mutz, Miss Jane Barrow, Mrs. M. M. Rittenour and Mrs. L. L. Holbrook.

Mrs. Conley Was Hostess.

The C. W. B. M. of the First Christian church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Conley, 1120 North Main street. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Robert Lyle, and opened with sentence prayers by those present. The subject for study was "New Americans for a New America," and Mrs. A. C. Hopkins read an interesting paper on the subject. The pastor, Rev. Robert Finch, talked of the relation of the C. W. B. M. to the ministry, and Mrs. Vada Haley gave a review of "The Melting Pot." A piano number by Miss Marie Reuillard and a vocal number by Miss Ruth Reuillard concluded the program. Mrs. W. A. Miller conducted the quiz. During the social hour the hostess was assisted by the guests of the afternoon, Mrs. R. F. Hambley, Mrs. T. B. Maulding and Mrs. Lulu Holt.

The Bridgets' Heart Luncheon.

The Bridgets gave their most important function Friday night at the home of Miss Anna Bainum, when they gave a heart luncheon, complimentary to Miss Ella Walton Frank and Mr. Dale Bellows, whose engagement was announced a week ago. Miss Frank will be the first of the Bridgets to wed, and they feel that she has honored them so much that they expect to extend every possible courtesy to her in return, for all unite in saying "she is our sweetest girl." The guests included the Bridgets and Miss Marie Brink, a cousin of the bride-elect, who gave the announcement party, and the special young men friends of the bridegroom-elect. The parlors of the Bainum home presented a beautiful appearance in their decorations of pink hearts, fancifully strung from room to room. Hearts were used to decorate the dome of the electroler in the dining room and were strung on ribbons to the four corners of the table, which was most beautifully laid in the bridal colors, pink and white. A mound of pink chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece, and around this were placed four white candles in crystal holders with pink shades. The favors were in the form of chrysanthemums and were filled with almonds. The luncheon was in two courses, Af-

Next Week at the Picture Shows

At the Fern All Next Week.

Monday—"Warner's Special," "When Men Hate," in three reels, in conjunction with a Biograph double comedy, "While the Count Goes Bathing" and "Pa Says."

Tuesday—"During the Round-Up" is a Biograph western drama, and it is sure to be good when made by that company, "The Tree and the Chaff," a Selig drama. Coffee industry in Jamaica. "Zeb, Zack and the Zulus." Zeb Jackson and Zack Johnson, two colored missionaries, land in an African village and are seized by zulus. They are put in a cage to fatten up before being cooked. This is a Lubin comedy.

Wednesday—"The Ne'er to Return Roads," a two-reel Selig special, written by Mrs. Otis Skinner. "Something Rotten in Havana," is an Essany comedy.

Thursday—"The Price Demanded" is a Lubin society drama. "The Lost Diamond," is a detective story by Kalem. "The Mermaid" is a seaside tale. "The Mad Sculptor," a Pathe drama.

Friday—"The Tiger Lily," a Vitagraph special in three reels. A lady in the lion's den is shown in this wonderful film. It is one of the big features of the season.

Saturday—"The Bribe," which failed to arrive here when booked a few weeks past, will be shown next Saturday. This is a Kalem society drama, and the manager of the Fern was in one of the scenes. There were about five hundred men in one scene that was being taken. Some one shouted "Oh, there's Alice Joyce," and they all ran to see beautiful Alice Joyce and the director shouted, "Hey, you actors, come back here and finish this picture you just spoiled." "The Taming of Betty" is a Vitagraph drama. "The False Accusation" is a thrilling picture of a mining camp in the west. A dramatic story is woven around a young miner and his desire for revenge, and the little Indian boy whose parental instinct is stirred by the sight of a paleface child's doll. The little redskin appropriates a baby and the crime is fastened on a miner. Just how the latter is captured and acquitted and what happened to the baby and the Indian boy make a mighty interesting picture with many unusual features. We show nothing but the best.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Written by a woman, and dramatized by a woman, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which comes to the Empire on next Tuesday night utterly disproves the popular fallacy that women have no sense of humor. The play is thoroughly satisfying, funny in every sense of the word, and the clever lines of the book are heightened to a great degree by the little inimitable touches that only the most clever actors can give, and that must be seen to be appreciated. Never has a play been more obviously a character study with the plot woven about it than this of "Mrs. Wiggs," but it is surprising how smoothly it leads from one phase to another, and how interesting even the most commonplace incidents become with Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice's halo of appreciable understanding shedding its light upon them. The humor is of the best and highest, as it is drawn solely from the little incidents of everyday life that can amuse us so infinitely if we do not let ourselves "get soured" as Mrs. Wiggs expresses it.

The development of this commonplace side of things is missionary work, for it reminds everyone how much real amusement can come out of even the most unfortunate circumstances, and gives a code of living that if carried out would certainly make the world a much better place. "Mrs. Wiggs," with her pathetically funny philosophy, is at once a source of laughter, and to the thoughtful a mild but well pointed sermon. There are scarcely words to describe Miss Hazy and her "matrimonial venture," Mr. Stubbins. In each costume Miss Hazy is absolutely more ridiculous than in the preceding one, and her appearance is all that is needed to send the audience into uncontrollable laughter. She reveals new comic possibilities in spinsterhood and matrimony. Lovey Mary, as appealing as she is in the book, is made more so in the play. All the characters of the Cabbage Patch, to the number of twenty, appear in the play. The stage setting is a photographic reproduction of the world-famous Louisville Cabbage Patch, where Mrs. Bass, the original of Mrs. Wiggs, still lives. The play will be presented here under the management of the United Play Co.

Huerta Refuses to Accede to Wilson's Demands.

JOHN LIND PRESERVES SILENCE

Envoy at Mexico City Will Not Admit Chief Has Failed to Dislodge Dictator Nor Show Enthusiasm Over Outlook—Cabinet Discusses Rejoinder.

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—Unwilling to admit another failure on the part of Washington to bring about the elimination of President Huerta, John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, nevertheless failed to manifest any enthusiasm over the prospect that President Huerta would resign. From his manner and his conversation he indicated he believed the negotiations were nearing an end. Mr. Lind arrived from Vera Cruz.

There was nothing at the American embassy to indicate that a more favorable turn in events is expected, and there is reason to believe that an ultimatum, in its full diplomatic sense, soon will be handed to President Huerta, the time limit being brief. It is expected this new document will be so written as to bring an end to the relations between the two countries before Nov. 22, the date fixed for the convening of the new congress, unless President Huerta sees fit to agree to the terms of the Washington communication.

Provisional President Huerta's formal negative reply to the United States' demands, which was discussed in detail at the Mexican cabinet meeting, will set forth that the United States has no right, legal or otherwise, to demand General Huerta's elimination. This statement was given out from one of the departments of the Mexican government.

The reply, it is said, will also point out that Provisional President Huerta has no legal right to accede to the demands.

The informant says it was decided to incorporate in the reply a declaration that General Huerta intends to increase the Mexican army to 500,000 men.

TROOPS SENT TO KIEV

Outbreaks Feared as Result of Bellis Murder Trial.

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 8.—Troops in considerable number are being sent to Kiev as a precaution against anti-Semitic outbreaks as a result of the trial of Mendel Bellis, who is charged with ritual murder.

At the trial M. Shmakoff, representative of the anti-Semites, made an appeal to anti-Jewish prejudice. He alluded to the large financial resources of the Jewish race and alleged their money had enabled the Jews to influence the newspapers in favor of Bellis.

He described Dr. Sikorski, who, in an anti-Semitic diatribe before the court last week, declared ritual murder was not the myth of popular prejudice, but a reality of the Twentieth century, as standing on the brink of the grave and therefore fearless in speaking the truth.

M. Shmakoff pictured the Jews as regarding Christians as animals, to be destroyed without compunction. He said he did not desire that a severe penalty be inflicted on Bellis, but asked the jury to convict the prisoner so as to bring joy to the millions of anxious Russian mothers.

Roland Molinoux Takes Second Bride.

New York, Nov. 8.—Roland B. Molinoux, twice tried twelve years ago for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams and acquitted, applied at the city hall for a marriage license to wed Miss Margaret Connell of this city. The license was not granted, because he had forgotten to bring with him a copy of the decree of divorce which his former wife, Blanche Chesborough, obtained against him in South Dakota. Later Molinoux and Miss Connell came to the city hall with a copy of his decree of divorce. The license was obtained, an alderman was called in and they were married.

Sleeping Tramp Causes Wreck.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 8.—A sleeping tramp caused the wreck of a freight train on the Missouri Pacific road, thirty-five miles east of here. The tramp was sleeping at the top of a steep bank beside the track. As the train approached he rolled down the bank in front of the engine. The emergency brakes were applied and the train was halted in time to save his life. The sudden stop threw several cars from the track. The tramp rubbed his eyes and sought another place to sleep.

Shipment of Silver Seized by Mexicans

Vera Cruz, Nov. 8.—One hundred and eighteen boxes of silver pesos, each valued at about $3,000, forwarded here by Hugo Scherer & Co., bankers of Mexico City, for shipment on the steamer Mexico, were seized by government officials. It is asserted by the authorities that under the law prohibiting such exportation, the money is liable to confiscation.

DEADLOCKED ON CURRENCY MEASURE

Movement For Caucus of Democratic Senators is Gaining.

Washington, Nov. 8.—A shift in the lineup on the currency bill strengthened the position of the administration forces, but left the senate committee in a temporary deadlock. Senators Reed and O'Gorman, who have been opposing parts of the administration bill in the committee, rejoined the Democrats and the committee voted to reconsider the decision which cut down from twelve to four the number of regional banks in the proposed new system.

Senator Crawford (Rep.) voted with the Democrats to reconsider, but a discussion, which at times waxed warm, failed to force a vote on a proposition to fix the number of banks at seven. Senator Crawford said he had voted to reconsider solely as a matter of courtesy. He made it clear he would not support a resolution to increase the number.

Senator Hitchcock made it plain that he would not swing into line with the other Democrats and with a six to six tie in prospect the administration forces avoided a vote.

The administration senators succeeded in voting to retain the secretary of the treasury on the proposed federal reserve board. The reading of the bill was begun and a number of minor proposals were passed upon.

With the committee hard at work, but tied up on the fundamentals of the bill, the movement for a caucus of Democratic senators gained momentum. A petition was circulated by Senators Ashurst (Ariz.) and Martine (N. J.), calling for a conference on the currency question generally.

TRIES TO BURN GIRL ALIVE

Found Bound and Gagged Amid Burning Rubbish in Chicago House.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Gertrude Hanson, a sixteen-year-old servant employed in the home of Otto Johnson, was found bound and gagged amid burning rubbish in the house.

The young woman was unconscious, but detectives expressed the opinion that she had been attacked and that her assailant had taken desperate measures to conceal a crime.

Miss Hanson's clothing had been saturated with kerosene and papers and other rubbish near by set on fire. Smoke, issuing from the basement, attracted neighbors, who rescued the girl before the flames reached her.

When Miss Hanson regained consciousness she said the intruder hit her over the head, but that she was not otherwise harmed. He was a pyromaniac, she said, and attacked her to keep her from giving the alarm while he was setting fire to the building.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

Irregularity One of Chief Characteristics of Situation.

New York, Nov. 8.—Dun's Review of Trade says:

Irregularity is one of the chief characteristics of the business situation, but there is little evidence of a general reaction. In certain lines and sections of the country the volume of trade is expanding, with gains recorded over last year in some instances.

Lower temperatures throughout a considerable area have had the effect of stimulating the demand for seasonable merchandise and it is significant that prompt deliveries are strongly urged, thus emphasizing the depleted condition of wholesale and retail stocks.

Transactions in the dry goods market have shown a noticeable increase in some quarters, having been heavier than at any time in the last three years and values continue firm.

Joys of School Teaching.

A young lady in a distant part of the state who has lately tackled her first school, writes as follows to a chum who has engaged in a similar undertaking:

Every day I go up to that horrible old school house and those nerve-deceiving children. If I could just see a long green railroad ticket to C—, I'd—well, heaven only knows what I'd do. Oh, isn't it awful! I thought I had a little nerve and I've gotten along beautifully until today, but good-night and good-bye.

I bet I've wept a gallon.

Yes, school has begun. Two weeks of it. It's worse than I had ever dreamed of in my wildest flights of imagination. The directors have been grand and tell me I'm just getting along wonderfully, but I don't see how any one who hates it like I do could possibly make a success. I have three little darlings who have—(well, they are alive). I sent them home three different times with a nice note to their mother, telling her to send them back when they got fixed. She sent them back every time and Friday sent a note saying that if I sent them home again she would have me prosecuted. I sent them home (they still had 'em) and so I reckon my next letter will be written behind jail bars. That would be a little variety anyhow.

Friday I got 32 peaches, 2 apples, 1 sunflower and a bird's nest.

Our old telephone has been ringing all day—kids telling me good-bye. Nice in them, but—

You'll make a grand teacher. I wonder if you are real brave and cheerful. If you are I guess you'll feel like knocking me over for writing like this.

THE OLD PLOTTERS

By AUGUSTUS GOODWIN SHERWIN.

"Why, Arnold, this is simply tyrannical!"

"Think so?" said Arnold Preston lightly.

"It's more—it's positively barbaric! What! Coerced into marrying a girl you have never seen? Forced to live with a woman you don't like? It's dreadful, unheard of, abominable!"

"Now, don't get excited, Chester," said easy-going Arnold, as he went on with packing his valise. "I'm the one most interested, and I'm not complaining. My good old uncle, and he has treated me like a prince all my life, is bent on what the novelists call 'a marriage of convenience.' I understand it is based on an old-time comrade friendship. Well, why not? If the girl isn't blind or crippled, and reasonably sweet tempered, it's all the same to me."

"Horrors! have you no ideals?" "None," freely confessed Arnold blankly. "I was brought up to regard all girls as angels, and I believe they are. I never saw one, though, that attracted me more than another, so I trust to the good taste of my whimsical relative and go like a lamb to the slaughter."

"Who is she? What is her name?" "I have not the least idea in the world."

"And she?" "Equally as ignorant as to my identity, I assume, and apparently of the same filial obedient mold as myself."

In the same equable frame of mind as that in which he had thus conversed with his close college chum, our indifferent hero arrived at Twenty Lakes the next day for a two weeks' outing.

Uncle Ramsey had arranged it all—outing, introduction to the predestined bride, afterwards a partnership in his extensive business, after that the honeymoon.

"Easy as falling off a log—why should I worry?" Arnold indolently asked himself the next day, as he started out to enjoy himself in his favorite sport, rowing.

There was, indeed, a fine chain of lakes connected by little channels and full of prime fish, and the weather was sublime. At the end of two days, however, Arnold began to feel rather lonesome.

"A new boarder down at Smith's on the next lake," he heard his hostess tell her husband at the supper table.

A Dainty Sprite of a Maiden.

"That so?"

"Yes, a very pretty young lady—a Miss Hope Raymond, my neighbor tells me. Mr. Preston, you must meet her."

Arnold uttered something about "a lack of interest in girls," but was out in his yawl a trifle earlier than usual the next morning. He was all eyes, too, as he passed the channel into Smith's Lake. Lo, and behold! a dainty sprite of a maiden was skimming the water in a light skiff.

"Just because I'm lonely I'll cultivate her," Arnold cheated himself into saying. "I'd welcome anybody in this dreary solitude."

Two days after that the skiff was not in much use. Pretty nearly all day long the yawl held two, and a happy, careless, merry pair they were. Arnold fancied he had never met so artless, ingenious, attractive a girl as Miss Hope Raymond. The young lady did not express an opinion, but her manner betrayed a full appreciation of the kindly, friendly way in which her cavalier helped her put in the time.

They boated, they took long drives along the charming lanes. Their hostesses gave one or two dances, with the rural population filling in. At the end of ten days Arnold Preston voted that he was having the most pleasant time of his life. Pretty Hope was gay and smiling all of the time, so she must have shared his delight in this ideal outing.

"It's getting dangerous," confessed Arnold to himself, one evening near the end of his prescribed vacation. "I fancy I had best get back to Uncle Ramsey and a strict sense of duty before I am too far gone. Oh dear!" and rather longingly Arnold recalled what his chum had said about "ideals."

Miss Raymond had told the little there was to say about herself. Her father was a widower. They had a great lonely home in the city, and he had sent her to Twenty Lakes for quiet and rest after a graduating year of hard study.

"The last day," rather mourned Arnold, as he started forth with his yawl. "It looks cloudy, but Hope—that is, Miss Raymond—isn't one of the kind to shy at a wetting. The mischief!"

With the words he gave the yawl just leaving the channel that connected the two lakes a great swing forward, leaped to his feet, tore off his coat, and swam like one frantic toward an overturned skiff and a form just sinking beneath the water.

Hope had come to meet him in the skiff. An adverse breeze had upset her frail craft. When he reached her, going down for the last time, she was insensible. He bore her ashore to where there was a rustic bench. She recovered, shrinking back from his protecting arms and devouring glance. Then, with trembling hands clinging to his arm, her face expressing the gratitude she felt.

"I am so glad you saved me," she breathed—"oh, so glad that it was you."

The words inspired him. Ah! If Chester could have seen him now. In a torrent of eloquence, though a sad, vain cry, he told her of his love, and then that they must part. He was bound to a duty, but he should never forget her.

"And I—am bound, too!" sobbed Hope, clinging to his hand, but face averted and tear-stained. "Goodbye—goodbye!"

That evening she went home. The day following Arnold also left Twenty Lakes. He tried hard to forget—harder than ever when his uncle announced that they were going to the city next week. Arnold understood what that meant. He smiled amid his heart pain, ready to face the rack.

It was dusk, and the lights were low that eventful evening when he and his uncle were ushered into the drawing room of a palatial home in the city. Arnold knew it to be that of the bride picked out for him.

A dignified, impressive-looking gentleman entered the apartment as uncle and nephew arose from their seats.

"My dear old friend Ramsey," he spoke heartily and moved aside courteously to advance a charming young lady by his side. "My daughter, Mr. Ramsey. And this, I presume, is your nephew? My daughter Hope, Mr. Preston."

"Oh, father!"—and Hope Raymond tottered almost into his arms.

"Miss Raymond!" gasped the astonished Arnold.

"Met before—ha! ha! Raymond, we are two old plotters. Look at them," exclaimed Mr. Ramsey.

"No, leave them to their happiness," supplemented Mr. Raymond.

And there, in perfect silence, Arnold and Hope, with clasped hands, stood looking into each other's eyes.

A vague suspicion of the truth flashed into Arnold's mind as he heard his uncle chuckling in the next room.

"They sent us to Twenty Lakes purposely to meet," said Arnold.

"Was there need, do you think?" asked Hope, and then blushed and trembled at her own temerity.

"From a sense of duty," said Arnold with mock solemnity, "I must ask you to become my wife."

"Because of the mandate of a cruel father, I will have to accept," smiled Hope. "Oh! life is so beautiful, so sweet," and the next moment she was resting in his loving arms.

Street Car Employees Win Demand for Arbitration.

RESULT OF RALSTON'S EFFORTS

Nothing Is Said About Recognition of Union, but All Men Discharged for Joining it to Be Reinstated by Traction Company.

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—The strike of the employees of the traction company was settled through the efforts of Governor Samuel M. Ralston.

The employees won their demands for arbitration, but nothing is said about recognition of the union in the terms of settlement.

All the men who were in the employ of the company Oct. 31, when the strike was called, and all employees who had been discharged on account of joining the union are to be installed by the company with full seniority rights and without prejudice. The company, however, is not compelled to reinstate men engaged in violence during the strike.

Disputes and grievances as to wages, hours, conditions and service will be referred to the utilities commission if the company and employees fail to reach a mutual agreement within ten days. The company must take up the grievances with its employees within five days after the resumption of service. The utilities commission, by the terms of settlement, must render a decision within thirty days from the date of the first hearing. This decision shall be binding on all parties interested for three years and shall date back to the time of resumption of work.

In addition to the union and traction company officers, the agreement was signed by Ethelbert Stewart, representing the United States government, and Governor Ralston for the state of Indiana.

The settlement of the strike means that the 2,000 members of the Indiana national guard, who were called to Indianapolis on order of the governor, will be dispatched to their home stations as soon as possible. The soldiers were not called on to do duty.

The strike, which began Nov. 1, resulted in four deaths and injuries to a hundred or more people, including several police officers. A large amount of damage has been done to property.

Each Side Claims Victory.

Each side claims a victory in the settlement of the strike.

The union officials declare that while they did not obtain recognition of the union, they won their main contention, which was a demand for arbitration of all disputes between the employees and the company. The railway company asserts it won its fight not to recognize the union.

Credit for the settlement of the strike is given to Governor Ralston, who has been untiring in his efforts to bring the company and its employees together.

MORRISON FLAYS TAFT

Labor Leader Denounces Him for Vetoing Immigration Bill.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 8.—Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, addressing the Western Labor Immigration congress, denounced ex-President Taft for vetoing the immigration bill passed a year ago, and declared that employers who opposed the bill were bent on "tearing down the civilization of the country to fatten their own purses."

Two hundred delegates were present, representing all the states west of the Mississippi river.

Morrison predicted an enormous flow of European immigrants to the Pacific coast through the Panama canal.

"When these strangers come—500,000 to 800,000 of them the first year, perhaps," he said, "they will have to find work. If they can't get $3 a day they will take 50 cents, or just enough to buy bread and avoid starvation. By admitting these people you are not only hurting yourselves, but the nations from which they come. If conditions are bad there, the only way they will ever be bettered will be by forcing the dissatisfied workers to remain and fight their own way to victory."

SCHOOLS CREATING SNORBS

Professor Thomas Urges Industrial Education and Manual Training.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—Professor W. W. Thomas of Springfield, Mo., told the state convention of Missouri teachers that the present system of education was creating snobs and snobbiness.

He said that the trend of education was toward the professions and that this tended to inculcate the idea that manual labor is degrading. He urged industrial education and manual training.

A resolution favoring simplified spelling was adopted by a vote of 284 to 256.

MOST SUCCESSFUL

STATE TEACHERS' MEETING BEST EVER HELD IN STATE.

OVER 4,000 TEACHERS

Were in Attendance—President Richardson and C. E. Wells Are Back From St. Louis.

President Ira Richardson and Librarian C. Edwin Wells of the Normal school returned Saturday morning from St. Louis, where they have been attending the state teachers' meeting, which will close today.

Mr. Richardson says that this meeting was the most successful ever held in the state and there were 4,000 teachers in attendance. The association will meet in St. Joseph next year.

The association Friday afternoon ratified a resolution favoring simplified spelling. The resolution carried by a vote of 284 to 256. The president estimated that more than 5,000 teachers were present in the Coliseum when the vote was taken, indicating that hundreds had not voted.

The convention will close its three days' session late today, following an election of officers. Unless the convention should reject the recommendations of the committee on nominations, which has been rare in the history of the association, Prof. C. A. Phillips of the Warrensburg normal school faculty will be elected president of the state teachers' organization.

Other nominations considered practically equivalent to election are:

First vice president, I. L. Cammack, superintendent of schools in Kansas City; second vice president, S. A. Baker, superintendent of schools in Jefferson City; third vice president, A. R. Coburn, superintendent of schools in Chillicothe; treasurer, L. W. Rader, principal secretary, J. A. Whitford, superintendent of schools in St. Joseph. Members executive committee: Professor R. H. Emberson of Missouri university and William P. Evans, state superintendent of public schools.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

President Ira Richardson and Librarian C. E. Wells returned from the State Teachers' association at St. Louis last night. Mr. Wells while there spoke to the library section on "The Problem of the Rural School Libraries and How the Normal School Libraries May Help." It is thought that most of the other normal school teachers from Maryville who attended the meeting will return either tonight or tomorrow. President Richardson reported a very successful and enjoyable meeting.

The literary societies gave very interesting programs at their regular time of meeting, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. These societies are growing and the interest being manifested in the work would indicate that the organizations really mean something to their members. The programs given Thursday are as follows:

The Eureka society:
Piano solo—Allie Jean Fraser.
A prophecy—Anna Balmum.
Paper on Immigration—Mattie Simmons.

Debate, "Resolved, that children under 14 years of age should not work in factories"—Affirmative, Orlo Quinn and Frank McKee; negative, Clarence Perry and Ella Richards. The debate was won by the affirmative.

The Philomathean.
Piano solo—Miss Nelson.
Current Events—Miss Metzgar.
Cornet solo—Ray McPherron.

Debate, "Resolved, that the United States should further restrict immigration"—Affirmative, Harvey Watson; negative, Francis Ritchie. The affirmative won the debate.

The Philomathean society gave a short program during the assembly hour Wednesday morning. Chastain Harrell, the president of the society, had charge of the program, which was as follows:

Piano solo—S. F. Spauldower.
Vocal duet—Miss Stella Rogers, Miss Lois Harrison.

Play, "The Census Marshal," in which the following persons took part: Mrs. Smith.....Myrtle McPherron

THE HIGH SCHOOL WON.

Defeated the Hopkins High School Team by a Score of 34 to 16.

The high school basketball team defeated the Hopkins high school team yesterday evening by a tally of 34-16.

The local team was strengthened by Vandersloot, the Normal's star forward, who is taking some work at the high school this year and expects to graduate there at the end of the semester. Vandersloot was protested by the Hopkins team on the grounds of being a coach, but as he had received no money for coaching he was declared eligible.

The game was scrappy from start to finish, with the Maryville boys a little in the lead all the time. The first half ended 16-8.

The Hopkins team put up a plucky fight, but were not quite in the high school's class with Vandersloot in the game.

Murray showed up well for the Maryville lads, getting a total of eight field goals, while Rickard and Clutter did the majority of the point getting for the Hopkins team. Summary:

Maryville—Vandersloot, Murray, forwards; Thompson, center; Scott, David, Miller, guards.

Hopkins—Clutter, Rickard, forwards; Blanchard, center; Grote, Hanna, Griffith, guards.

Field goals—Vandersloot 6, Murray 8, Thompson, David, Clutter 3, Rickard, Blanchard.

Free throws—Vandersloot 2, Rickard 6.

Referee—Lowry of Hopkins.

Umpire—Busby of Maryville.

LOTS OF BUILDING IN CRESTON.

Two Wholesale Houses and the Biggest Produce Storage House in the Country Going Up.

C. C. Young of Creston, a former Maryville contractor, visited over Friday night in Maryville with M. H. Borrsch. He went on to St. Joseph Saturday morning to visit his mother, Mrs. Louise Young, and attend to business matters.

Mr. Young reports this a good building year for Creston. He has put in eleven new store fronts that are up to any in the state, and others equally as fine were put in by other contractors. The Clarinda Poultry company is putting up a five-story storage house, with basement, that is 90x100 feet, and when finished will be the best building of its kind in the United States, and, perhaps, in the world, and the Iowa Produce company is also putting up a great building there for its business. The Merrill wholesale grocery company of Ottumwa is building an immense wholesale house there to supply its patrons in that territory, and there have been many nice residences built.

A POULTRY SHOW FOR IMPROVEMENT

THE ANNUAL SHOW OF N. W. MISSOURI ASSOCIATION TO BE HERE.

MANY PRIZES OFFERED

Among These Are Several Silver Trophy Cups and Cash Premiums—Will Be in December.

The fourteenth annual show of the Northwest Missouri Poultry association will be held in this city from December 2 to 6, and expects to be the biggest one ever given in this section of the country. Last year there were 700 birds entered in the show, but the association is working to secure 1,000 birds for this year's show.

Many prizes are being offered by the association and the business men of the city. There are to be given away several fine silver trophy cups and large cash premiums to the boys and girls who have manifested an interest in pure bred poultry.

Judge E. M. Quay of LaPorte, Ind., will act as judge during the show.

The state association is going to offer four grand silver cups as prizes to be competed for by members of the state association only.

Each boy or girl who received free eggs for hatching from members of the association is required to exhibit at least a trio of birds at this show, being one cockerel and two pullets, and as many more as desired.

The association offers to be competed for by these boys and girls only the following: For best trio, $5; for second best, $4; for third best, $3; for fourth best, $2, and for fifth best, $1. CHEAP RATIONS FOR DAIRY COWS

The Suggestions as Offered by Dairy Department of the Agricultural College.

P. M. Brandt of the state college of agriculture writes as follows: This will be a hard winter for the dairy farmers of Missouri. The price of feed is unusually high, and the price of butter fat is low. The average daily production of the cows is low as a result of short pasture during the summer. The best Missouri dairyman can hope to do is to pay the feed bill and bring his cows through the winter in good condition.

From knowledge gained on a recent trip through the principal dairy sections of the state the following feeding suggestions are offered by the dairy department of the Missouri college of agriculture:

Many farmers have corn silage, timothy hay and wheat, but are short on corn. With wheat cheaper than corn pound for pound wheat is the more economical feed. It has about the same feeding value as corn. With the above feeds cotton seed meal is the only feed that need be bought. The wheat and cotton seed meal should be mixed in the same proportions as corn and cotton seed meal: Three parts chopped wheat to one part cotton seed meal. A cow giving two gallons of milk a day should receive daily about 35 pounds of silage, all the hay she will eat and about 5½ pounds of the grain mixture. The grain in this case is fed at the rate of one pound for each three pounds of milk the cow produces. If corn or clover hay is available and there is no silage, the hay will take the place of the silage. A cow will eat between 15 and 20 pounds of good hay each day.

If corn fodder and timothy or cane hay is the only roughage available the cows should receive all they will eat and the grain in this case should be fed one pound for about every two pounds of milk the cow produces daily.

These two rations meet the conditions on the majority of the dairy farms in Southern Missouri. There are some communities, however, where more and better feed is available. The dairy department of the Missouri college of agriculture will help figure out balanced rations for any one asking for information. Inquirers should give the kinds and prices of feeds available when writing for this information.

MET LAST NIGHT

CITY COUNCIL HAD REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION.

MANY BILLS ALLOWED

Commercial Club Gets $10 a Month for Six Months—Must Pay for Sewer Connection Now.

A meeting of the city council was held Friday evening, being the regular one for the month. A large number of bills were allowed and the city officers' monthly reports were read.

The council allowed the Commercial club $10 a month for six months, such money to be used for club purposes. A committee from the Commercial club were in attendance at the council and urged that such an appropriation be made monthly by the council. There was some opposition to the plan, but not enough to defeat the proposition.

Sewer connections now will be $20, according to a motion adopted by the council. During the summer the connections were made free of charge, but now they will have to pay the money if they want the connections. The connections cost $25.

Dr. A. T. Fisher, who was appointed assistant physician at the state hospital No. 2, resigned as city physician. His resignation will take effect in ten days. Mayor Robey has not decided who he will appoint to succeed him.

An amendment was adopted to the auto ordinance in regard to observing the road laws within the city. The amendment applies to buggies, as in the original ordinance it was only for autos. The ordinance will now provide for autos, buggies and all kinds of vehicles.

The council allowed the Stauber sewer bill of $50.

The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, November 21.

ARE NOW AT WORK.

The Filters Are Being Installed—The Pumps Will Be Here Within the Next Few Days.

The filters are now being put in at the city water plant by the Pittsburgh Filtering company, which company sold the filters to the board of public works.

Word was received Saturday that the new pumps for the plant had left Dayton, O., on November 6 and will be in Maryville within the next few days. The pumps are greatly needed as the ones being used at present are old and badly worn.

WITH THE ST. JOSEPH GAZETTE.

Former Maryville Newspaper Man Now Connected as Editorial Writer on St. Joseph Paper.

Fred R. Barkhurst, who was several years ago editor of the Maryville Tribune, is now connected with the Gazette of St. Joseph as chief editorial writer. Mr. Barkhurst started his newspaper career at Forest City, having published the Press of that town in 1904-06. He was then called to Maryville and from this city, he went to Carthage, and then to Springfield, where he was connected with E. M. McJinney's paper. The Springfield Republican, McJinney's paper, in speaking of his work on that paper, says:

"Large numbers of people throughout this section will miss Mr. Barkhurst from Southwest Missouri newspaperdom. The combination of literary craftsmanship and newspaper ability which characterized his work, as well as the social vision which inspired his methods, has made him a strong influence in journalism throughout the state. His work at St. Joseph will release him from the strenuous grind of the administrative side of newspaper work, and afford the advantages of daytime hours and leisure to devote to literary and editorial work."

Dr. Beason Is Dead.

Mrs. J. S. Clark received a telegram Saturday morning from her sister, Dr. May Beason of Newell, Ia., telling of the death of her husband, Dr. Samuel A. Beason, which occurred early Saturday morning. Dr. Beason was operated on in the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago about a week ago and his recovery was not expected. He was a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lowrey of this city.

Moberly has been getting a good deal of fun and advertising out of her annual "coon hunt," and incidentally playing some state politics perhaps, but from the press reports sent out it is evident that there was something more seductive in the hunt than the trail of a coon.

Mr. Huerta should remember that Missouri whipped Mexico once and can do it again if necessary. Col. Doniphan, with one thousand men, went down in 1846 and chased the natives until they got tired and then came home. Texas would like to take the job now, and if President Wilson doesn't want to be bothered with the Mexican situation, all he has to do is to whistle and Texas will get busy with pleasure.

In the appointment of Dr. Amos T. Fisher to be assistant physician at state hospital No. 2, at St. Joseph, by the board of managers has paid a deserved tribute to a good man and have secured the services of a valuable aid in the work of the hospital. Dr. Fisher, during his residence in Maryville has proved himself a good citizen, always in sympathy with progressive ideas and the best interests of the city and, while his appointment is pleasing to all his friends, his removal from the city will be greatly regretted.

Prof. C. A. Hawkins of this city made a well merited criticism at St. Louis of present day methods of teaching. The criticism applies not only to English but to mathematics and other studies as well. The effort to stuff young heads full of technical and advanced ideas beyond their full comprehension results in shooting over their heads. The child, no matter how bright, does not fully understand, gets a poor grade, becomes discouraged and, instead of being benefitted, is injured. The best teacher for little folks is the one who is big enough to understand the difference between the undeveloped and the mature mind and to adjust himself and his methods to meet the requirements. The primary and fundamental idea in education is to teach the young mind how to think correctly and quickly and to prepare it to properly digest and store up the information to be gathered in later years and to meet the practical problems of life to the best advantage. The child cannot run until it learns to walk. The modern schools are an improvement over the old, but the tendency is to cover too much ground and to race where they should move slowly.

Talked About Science of Health.

The Pickering Mothers' club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Wray Friday afternoon. The meeting opened with devotions led by Mrs. O. G. Null and Mrs. Laura Watson. The study for the afternoon was "Science and Health," led by Mrs. Stant Garten, who conducted a round table discussion, everyone taking part and giving her views on health and the science of it so far as she was able to understand from her own experience. The hostess served a dainty luncheon. There were three visitors, Mrs. C. G. McMillen, Mrs. Marvin Hall and Mrs. L. J. Neal.

Mrs. Nixon Was Hostess.

The W. F. M. S. society of the First M. E. church was entertained at its regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. W. Nixon. Mrs. J. T. Linville presided. With the exception of a paper by Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox on the general work of the society the meeting was taken up with hearing reports from the Des Moines branch conference in Kansas City, by the delegates, Mrs. M. D. Kemp, Mrs. J. A. Lesh and Mrs. Walter Mutz, and the conduct of the mystery box by Mrs. Linville. During the social hour the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Kissinger, Mrs. S. J. DeArmond and Mrs. W. R. Wells.

Mrs. Bower Was Hostess.

The Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church met Friday afternoon with Mrs. H. C. Bower, with seventeen members present. Mrs. J. C. Archer conducted the devotional service, Mrs. H. E. Wright gave a paper on "The Pledges of the Mormons to Secure Statehood and Their Attitude Toward Them." Mrs. J. A. Lesh read a story on missionary boxes, and Mrs. R. S. Braniger a paper on Oriental schools. The program closed with a solo by Miss Nellie Wray, entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." The social committee was composed of Mrs. George Null, Miss Wray and Miss Ethel Embree. The guests were Mrs. W. O. Garrett, Mrs. Charles Gaugh, Mrs. W. B. Christy, Mrs. Walter Mutz, Miss Jane Barrow, Mrs. M. M. Rittenour and Mrs. L. L. Holbrook.

Mrs. Conley Was Hostess.

The C. W. B. M. of the First Christian church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Conley, 1120 North Main street. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Robert Lyle, and opened with sentence prayers by those present. The subject for study was "New Americans for a New America," and Mrs. A. C. Hopkins read an interesting paper on the subject. The pastor, Rev. Robert Finch, talked of the relation of the C. W. B. M. to the ministry, and Mrs. Vada Halley gave a review of "The Melting Pot." A piano number by Miss Marie Reuillard and a vocal number by Miss Ruth Reuillard concluded the program. Mrs. W. A. Miller conducted the quiz. During the social hour the hostess was assisted by the guests of the afternoon, Mrs. R. F. Hambleen, Mrs. T. B. Maulding and Mrs. Lulu Holt.

The Bridgets' Heart Luncheon.

The Bridgets gave their most important function Friday night at the home of Miss Anna Bainum, when they gave a heart luncheon, complimentary to Miss Ella Walton Frank and Mr. Dale Bellows, whose engagement was announced a week ago. Miss Frank will be the first of the Bridgets to wed, and they feel that she has honored them so much that they expect to extend every possible courtesy to her in return, for all unite in saying "she is our sweetest girl." The guests included the Bridgets and Miss Marie Brink, a cousin of the bride-elect, who gave the announcement party, and the special young men friends of the bridegroom-elect. The parlors of the Bainum home presented a beautiful appearance in their decorations of pink hearts, fancifully strung from room to room. Hearts were used to decorate the dome of the electrolier in the dining room and were strung on ribbons to the four corners of the table, which was most beautifully laid in the bridal colors, pink and white. A mound of pink chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece, and around this were placed four white candles in crystal holders with pink shades. The favors were in the form of chrysanthemums and were filled with almonds. The luncheon was in two courses. After the luncheon the Bridgets presented the bride-to-be with the flowers that adorned the table and buffet, which was also in pink and white, and an electric toaster, while the young men gave Mr. Bellows a handsome hint as to what his duty would be each morning at breakfast, in the way of an elegant electric percolator. The remainder of the evening was spent with music and dancing. The guests included Miss Frank, Mr. Bellows, Miss Brink, Misses Hildred Hanna, Grace Sturm, Allie Fraser, Neva Airy, Louise Marshall, Mae Gowney, Cecile Benight, Glen Hotchkiss, Anna Bainum, Ruth Matter, Messrs. Harold Bellows, Lieber and Hsieck Holmes, Frank Schumacher, Andy Chris Cummins, Louis DeHart, Elmore Frank, Fred Lewis, Marvin Curnutt, Edgar Rhoades and Magnus Tate.

Talked About Training Schools.

Mrs. Flora Quinn was hostess to the Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church Friday afternoon, and there was a good attendance. Mrs. S. A. Helwig presided during the business session in the absence of the president, Mrs. Eugene Ogden, who is out of the city. Mrs. L. P. James conducted the study, opening it with reading the 35th Psalm. The song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," was participated in by all, with Mrs. Louis Hale at the piano, followed with prayer led by the pastor. The subject of the study was "Training for Service—Baptist Training Schools." The work of three schools, the one in Chicago was presented by Miss Helen Burris; the East, by Mrs. Stella Epperson, and the Howe, by Miss Enidie Tobow; the training afforded by the R. Y. P. U. by Mrs. E. L. Harrington, and a talk on the work of William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo., and the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., was given by the pastor, Rev. Hale, a graduate of those institutions. Mrs. H. L. Raines sang "Nearer My Home." Roll call was responded to with expressions of thankfulness, and prayer closed the meeting.

Next Week at the Picture Shows

At the Fern All Next Week.

Monday—"Warner's Special," "When Men Hate," in three reels, in conjunction with a Biograph double comedy, "While the Count Goes Bathing" and "Pa Says."

Tuesday—"During the Round-Up" is a Biograph western drama, and it is sure to be good when made by that company, "The Tree and the Chaff," a Selig drama. Coffee Industry in Jamaica. "Zeb, Zack and the Zulus," Zeb Jackson and Zack Johnson, two colored missionaries, land in an African village and are seized by zulus. They are put in a cage to fatten up before being cooked. This is a Lubin comedy.

Wednesday—"The Ne'er to Return Roads," a two-reel Selig special, written by Mrs. Otis Skinner. "Something Rotten in Havana," is an Essany comedy.

Thursday—"The Price Demanded" is a Lubin society drama. "The Lost Diamond," is a detective story by Kalem. "The Mermaid" is a seaside tale. "The Mad Sculptor," a Pathe drama.

Friday—"The Tiger Lily," a Vitagraph special in three reels. A lady in the lion's den is shown in this wonderful film. It is one of the big features of the season.

Saturday—"The Bribe," which failed to arrive here when booked a few weeks past, will be shown next Saturday. This is a Kalem society drama, and the manager of the Fern was in one of the scenes. There were about five hundred men in one scene that was being taken. Some one shouted "Oh, there's Alice Joyce," and they all ran to see beautiful Alice Joyce and the director shouted, "Hey, you actors, come back here and finish this picture you just spoiled." "The Taming of Betty" is a Vitagraph drama. "The False Accusation" is a thrilling picture of a mining camp in the west. A dramatic story is woven around a young miner and his desire for revenge, and the little Indian boy whose parental instinct is stirred by the sight of a paleface child's doll. The little redskin appropriates a baby and the crime is fastened on a miner. Just how the latter is captured and acquitted and what happened to the baby and the Indian boy make a mighty interesting picture with many unusual features. We show nothing but the best.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Written by a woman, and dramatized by a woman, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which comes to the Empire on next Tuesday night utterly disproves the popular fallacy that women have no sense of humor. The play is thoroughly satisfying, funny in every sense of the word, and the clever lines of the book are heightened to a great degree by the little inimitable touches that only the most clever actors can give, and that must be seen to be appreciated. Never has a play been more obviously a character study with the plot woven about it than this of "Mrs. Wiggs," but it is surprising how smoothly it lends from one phase to another, and how interesting even the most commonplace incidents become with Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice's halo of appreciable understanding shedding its light upon them. The humor is of the best and highest, as it is drawn solely from the little incidents of everyday life that can amuse us so infinitely if we do not let ourselves "get soured" as Mrs. Wiggs expresses it.

The development of this commonplace side of things is missionary work, for it reminds everyone how much real amusement can come out of even the most unfortunate circumstances, and gives a code of living that if carried out would certainly make the world a much better place. "Mrs. Wiggs," with her pathetically funny philosophy, is at once a source of laughter, and to the thoughtful a mild but well pointed sermon. There are scarcely words to describe Miss Hazy and her "matrimonial venture," Mr. Stubbins. In each costume Miss Hazy is absolutely more ridiculous than in the preceding one, and her appearance is all that is needed to send the audience into uncontrollable laughter. She reveals new comic possibilities in spinsterhood and matrimony. Lovey Mary, as appealing as she is in the book, is made more so in the play. All the characters of the Cabbage Patch, to the number of twenty, appear in the play. The stage setting is a photographic reproduction of the world-famous Louisville Cabbage Patch, where Mrs. Bass, the original of Mrs. Wiggs, still lives. The play will be presented here under the management of the United Play Co.

REAL ULTIMATUM EXPECTED SOON

Huerta Refuses to Accede to Wilson's Demands.

JOHN LIND PRESERVES SILENCE

Envoy at Mexico City Will Not Admit Chief Has Failed to Dislodge Dictator Nor Show Enthusiasm Over Outlook—Cabinet Discusses Rejoinder.

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—Unwilling to admit another failure on the part of Washington to bring about the elimination of President Huerta, John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, nevertheless failed to manifest any enthusiasm over the prospect that President Huerta would resign. From his manner and his conversation he indicated he believed the negotiations were nearing an end. Mr. Lind arrived from Vera Cruz.

There was nothing at the American embassy to indicate that a more favorable turn in events is expected, and there is reason to believe that an ultimatum, in its full diplomatic sense, soon will be handed to President Huerta, the time limit being brief. It is expected this new document will be so written as to bring an end to the relations between the two countries before Nov. 22, the date fixed for the convening of the new congress, unless President Huerta sees fit to agree to the terms of the Washington communication.

Provisional President Huerta's formal negative reply to the United States' demands, which was discussed in detail at the Mexican cabinet meeting, will set forth that the United States has no right, legal or otherwise, to demand General Huerta's elimination. This statement was given out from one of the departments of the Mexican government.

The reply, it is said, will also point out that Provisional President Huerta has no legal right to accede to the demands.

The informant says it was decided to incorporate in the reply a declaration that General Huerta intends to increase the Mexican army to 500,000 men.

TROOPS SENT TO KIEV

Outbreaks Feared as Result of Bellis Murder Trial.

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 8.—Troops in considerable number are being sent to Kiev as a precaution against anti-Semitic outbreaks as a result of the trial of Mendel Bellis, who is charged with ritual murder.

At the trial M. Shmakoff, representative of the anti-Semites, made an appeal to anti-Jewish prejudice. He alluded to the large financial resources of the Jewish race and alleged their money had enabled the Jews to influence the newspapers in favor of Bellis.

He described Dr. Sikorski, who, in an anti-Semitic diatribe before the court last week, declared ritual murder was not the myth of popular prejudice, but a reality of the Twentieth century, as standing on the brink of the grave and therefore fearless in speaking the truth.

M. Shmakoff pictured the Jews as regarding Christians as animals, to be destroyed without compunction. He said he did not desire that a severe penalty be inflicted on Bellis, but asked the jury to convict the prisoner so as to bring joy to the millions of anxious Russian mothers.

Roland Molineux Takes Second Bride.

New York, Nov. 8.—Roland B. Molineux, twice tried twelve years ago for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams and acquitted, applied at the city hall for a marriage license to wed Miss Margaret Connell of this city. The license was not granted, because he had forgotten to bring with him a copy of the decree of divorce which his former wife, Blanche Chesborough, obtained against him in South Dakota. Later Molineux and Miss Connell came to the city hall with a copy of his decree of divorce. The license was obtained, an alderman was called in and they were married.

Sleeping Tramp Causes Wreck.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 8.—A sleeping tramp caused the wreck of a freight train on the Missouri Pacific road, thirty-five miles east of here. The tramp was sleeping at the top of a steep bank beside the track. As the train approached he rolled down the bank in front of the engine. The emergency brakes were applied and the train was halted in time to save his life. The sudden stop threw several cars from the track. The tramp rubbed his eyes and sought another place to sleep.

Shipment of Silver Seized by Mexicans.

Vera Cruz, Nov. 8.—One hundred and eighteen boxes of silver pesos, each valued at about $3,000, forwarded here by Hugo Scherer & Co., bankers of Mexico City, for shipment on the steamer Mexico, were seized by government officials. It is asserted by the authorities that under the law prohibiting such exportation, the money is liable to confiscation.

Negro Lynched Near Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—A mob smashed in the doors of the Dyersburg jail, removed John Talley, a negro, eighteen years old, and lynched him in the court yard. The negro was accused of attacking a woman.

DEADLOCKED ON CURRENCY MEASURE

Movement For Caucus of Democratic Senators is Gaining.

Washington, Nov. 8.—A shift in the lineup on the currency bill strengthened the position of the administration forces, but left the senate committee in a temporary deadlock. Senators Reed and O'Gorman, who have been opposing parts of the administration bill in the committee, rejoined the Democrats and the committee voted to reconsider the decision which cut down from twelve to four the number of regional banks in the proposed new system.

Senator Crawford (Rep.) voted with the Democrats to reconsider, but a discussion, which at times waxed warm, failed to force a vote on a proposition to fix the number of banks at seven. Senator Crawford said he had voted to reconsider solely as a matter of courtesy. He made it clear he would not support a resolution to increase the number.

Senator Hitchcock made it plain that he would not swing into line with the other Democrats and with a six to six tie in prospect the administration forces avoided a vote.

The administration senators succeeded in voting to retain the secretary of the treasury on the proposed federal reserve board. The reading of the bill was begun and a number of minor proposals were passed upon.

With the committee hard at work, but tied up on the fundamentals of the bill, the movement for a caucus of Democratic senators gained momentum. A petition was circulated by Senators Ashurst (Ariz.) and Martine (N. J.), calling for a conference on the currency question generally.

TRIES TO BURN GIRL ALIVE

Found Bound and Gagged Amid Burning Rubbish in Chicago House.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Gertrede Hanson, a sixteen-year-old servant employed in the home of Otto Johnson, was found bound and gagged amid burning rubbish in the house.

The young woman was unconscious, but detectives expressed the opinion that she had been attacked and that her assailant had taken desperate measures to conceal a crime.

Miss Hanson's clothing had been saturated with kerosene and papers and other rubbish near by set on fire. Smoke, issuing from the basement, attracted neighbors, who rescued the girl before the flames reached her.

When Miss Hanson regained consciousness she said the intruder hit her over the head, but that she was not otherwise harmed. He was a pyromaniac, she said, and attacked her to keep her from giving the alarm while he was setting fire to the building.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

Irregularity One of Chief Characteristics of Situation.

New York, Nov. 8.—Dun's Review of Trade says:

Irregularity is one of the chief characteristics of the business situation, but there is little evidence of a general reaction. In certain lines and sections of the country the volume of trade is expanding, with gains recorded over last year in some instances.

Lower temperatures throughout a considerable area have had the effect of stimulating the demand for seasonable merchandise and it is significant that prompt deliveries are strongly urged, thus emphasizing the depleted condition of wholesale and retail stocks.

Transactions in the dry goods market have shown a noticeable increase in some quarters, having been heavier than at any time in the last three years and values continue firm.

Failures this week numbered 283.

W. R. Tilson, Treasurer

Joys of School Teaching.

A young lady in a distant part of the state who has lately tackled her first school, writes as follows to a chum who has engaged in a similar undertaking:

Every day I go up to that horrible old school house and those nerve-destraining children. If I could just see a long green railroad ticket to C—, I'd—well, heaven only knows what I'd do. Oh, isn't it awful! I thought I had a little nerve and I've gotten along beautifully until today, but good-night and good-bye.

I bet I've wept a gallon.

Yes, school has begun. Two weeks of it. It's worse than I had ever dreamed of in my wildest flights of imagination. The directors have been grand and tell me I'm just getting along wonderfully, but I don't see how any one who hates it like I do could possibly make a success. I have three little darlings who have—(well, they are alive). I sent them home three different times with a nice note to their mother, telling her to send them back when they got fixed. She sent them back every time and Friday sent a note saying that if I sent them home again she would have me prosecuted. I sent them home (they still had 'em) and so I reckon my next letter will be written behind jail bars. That would be a little variety anyhow.

Friday I got 32 peaches, 2 apples, 1 sunflower and a bird's nest.

Our old telephone has been ringing all day—kids telling me good-bye. Nice in them, but—

You'll make a grand teacher. I wonder if you are real brave and cheerful. If you are I guess you'll feel like knocking me over for writing like this.

It is a constant admonition to every Wabash trainman, for the protection of every Wabash traveler. THE OLD PLOTTERS

By AUGUSTUS GOODWIN SHERWIN.

"Why, Arnold, this is simply tyrannical!"

"Think so?" said Arnold Preston lightly.

"It's more—it's positively barbaric! What! Coerced into marrying a girl you have never seen? Forced to live with a woman you don't like? It's dreadful, unheard of, abominable!"

"Now, don't get excited, Chester," said easy-going Arnold, as he went on with packing his valise. "I'm the one most interested, and I'm not complaining. My good old uncle, and he has treated me like a prince all my life, is bent on what the novelists call 'a marriage of convenience.' I understand it is based on an old-time comrade friendship. Well, why not? If the girl isn't blind or crippled, and reasonably sweet tempered, it's all the same to me."

"Horrors! have you no ideals?"

"None," freely confessed Arnold blankly. "I was brought up to regard all girls as angels, and I believe they are. I never saw one, though, that attracted me more than another, so I trust to the good taste of my whimsical relative and go like a lamb to the slaughter."

"Who is she? What is her name?"

"I have not the least idea in the world."

"And she?"

"Equally as ignorant as to my identity, I assume, and apparently of the same filial obedient mold as myself."

In the same equable frame of mind as that in which he had thus conversed with his close college chum, our indifferent hero arrived at Twenty Lakes the next day for a two weeks' outing.

Uncle Ramsey had arranged it all—outing, introduction to the predestined bride, afterwards a partnership in his extensive business, after that the honeymoon.

"Easy as falling off a log—why should I worry?" Arnold indolently asked himself the next day, as he started out to enjoy himself in his favorite sport, rowing.

There was, indeed, a fine chain of lakes connected by little channels and full of prime fish, and the weather was sublime. At the end of two days, however, Arnold began to feel rather lonesome.

the next lake," he heard his hostess tell her husband at the supper table.

"That so?"

"Yes, a very pretty young lady—a Miss Hope Raymond, my neighbor tells me. Mr. Preston, you must meet her."

Arnold uttered something about "a lack of interest in girls," but was out in his yawl a trifle earlier than usual the next morning. He was all eyes, too, as he passed the channel into Smith's Lake. Lo, and behold! a dainty sprite of a maiden was skimming the water in a light skiff.

"Just because I'm lonely I'll cultivate her," Arnold cheated himself into saying. "I'd welcome anybody in this dreary solitude."

Two days after that the skiff was not in much use. Pretty nearly all day long the yawl held two, and a happy, careless, merry pair they were. Arnold fancied he had never met so artless, ingenious, attractive a girl as Miss Hope Raymond. The young lady did not express an opinion, but her manner betrayed a full appreciation of the kindly, friendly way in which her cavalier helped her put in the time.

They boated, they took long drives along the charming lanes. Their hostesses gave one or two dances, with the rural population filling in. At the end of ten days Arnold Preston voted that he was having the most pleasant time of his life. Pretty Hope was gay and smiling all of the time, so she must have shared his delight in this ideal outing.

"It's getting dangerous," confessed Arnold to himself, one evening near the end of his prescribed vacation. "I fancy I had best get back to Uncle Ramsey and a strict sense of duty before I am too far gone. Oh dear!" and rather longingly Arnold recalled what his chum had said about "ideals."

Miss Raymond had told the little there was to say about herself. Her father was a widower. They had a great lonely home in the city, and he had sent her to Twenty Lakes for quiet and rest after a graduating year of hard study.

"The last day," rather mourned Arnold, as he started forth with his yawl. "It looks cloudy, but Hope—that is, Miss Raymond—isn't one of the kind to shy at a wetting. The mischief!"

With the words he gave the yawl just leaving the channel that connected the two lakes a great swing forward, leaped to his feet, tore off his coat, and swam like one frantic toward an overturned skiff and a form just sinking beneath the water.

Hope had come to meet him in the skiff. An adverse breeze had upset her frail craft. When he reached her, going down for the last time, she was insensible. He bore her ashore to where there was a rustic bench. She recovered, shrinking back from his protecting arms and devouring glance. Then, with trembling hands clung to his arm, her face expressing the gratitude she felt.

"I am so glad you saved me," she breathed—"oh, so glad that it was you."

The words inspired him. Ah! if Chester could have seen him now. In a torrent of eloquence, though a sad, vain cry, he told her of his love, and then that they must part. He was bound to a duty, but he should never forget her.

"And I—am bound, too!" sobbed Hope, clinging to his hand, but face averted and tear-stained. "Goodbye—goodbye!"

That evening she went home. The day following Arnold also left Twenty Lakes. He tried hard to forget—harder than ever when his uncle announced that they were going to the city next week. Arnold understood what that meant. He smiled amid his heart pain, ready to face the rack.

It was dusk, and the lights were low that eventful evening when he and his uncle were ushered into the drawing room of a palatial home in the city. Arnold knew it to be that of the bride picked out for him.

A dignified, impressive-looking gentleman entered the apartment as uncle and nephew arose from their seats.

"My dear old friend Ramsey," he spoke heartily and moved aside courteously to advance a charming young lady by his side. "My daughter, Mr. Ramsey. And this, I presume, is your nephew? My daughter Hope, Mr. Preston."

"Oh, father!"—and Hope Raymond tottered almost into his arms.

"Miss Raymond!" gasped the astonished Arnold.

"Met before—ha! ha! Raymond, we are two old pillars. Look at them," exclaimed Mr. Ramsey.

"No, leave them to their happiness," supplemented Mr. Raymond.

And there, in perfect silence, Arnold and Hope, with clasped hands, stood looking into each other's eyes.

A vague suspicion of the truth flashed into Arnold's mind as he heard his uncle chuckling in the next room.

"They sent us to Twenty Lakes purposely to meet," said Arnold.

"Was there need, do you think?" asked Hope, and then blushed and trembled at her own temerity.

"From a sense of duty," said Arnold with mock solemnity. "I must ask you to become my wife."

"Because of the mandate of a cruel father, I will have to accept," smiled Hope. "Oh! life is so beautiful, so sweet," and the next moment she was resting in his loving arms.

INDIANAPOLIS STRIKE SETTLED

Street Car Employees Win Demand for Arbitration.

RESULT OF RALSTON'S EFFORTS

Nothing is Said About Recognition of Union, but All Men Discharged for Joining it to Be Reinstated by Traction Company.

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—The strike of the employees of the traction company was settled through the efforts of Governor Samuel M. Ralston.

The employees won their demands for arbitration, but nothing is said about recognition of the union in the terms of settlement.

All the men who were in the employ of the company Oct. 31, when the strike was called, and all employees who had been discharged on account of joining the union are to be reinstated by the company with full seniority rights and without prejudice. The company, however, is not compelled to reinstate men engaged in violence during the strike.

Disputes and grievances as to wages, hours, conditions and service will be referred to the utilities commission if the company and employees fail to reach a mutual agreement within ten days. The company must take up the grievances with its employees within five days after the resumption of service. The utilities commission, by the terms of settlement, must render a decision within thirty days from the date of the first hearing. This decision shall be binding on all parties interested for three years and shall date back to the time of resumption of work.

In addition to the union and traction company officers, the agreement was signed by Ethelbert Stewart, representing the United States government, and Governor Ralston for the state of Indiana.

The settlement of the strike means that the 2,000 members of the Indiana national guard, who were called to Indianapolis on order of the governor, will be dispatched to their home stations as soon as possible. The soldiers were not called on to do duty.

The strike, which began Nov. 1, resulted in four deaths and injuries to a hundred or more people, including several police officers. A large amount of damage has been done to property.

Each Side Claims Victory.

Each side claims a victory in the settlement of the strike.

The union officials declare that while they did not obtain recognition of the union, they won their main contention, which was a demand for arbitration of all disputes between the employees and the company. The railway company asserts it won its fight not to recognize the union.

Credit for the settlement of the strike is given to Governor Ralston, who has been untiring in his efforts to bring the company and its employees together.

MORRISON FLAYS TAFT

Labor Leader Denounces Him for Vetoing Immigration Bill.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 8.—Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, addressing the Western Labor Immigration congress, denounced ex-President Taft for vetoing the immigration bill passed a year ago, and declared that employers who opposed the bill were bent on "tearing down the civilization of the country to fatten their own purses."

Two hundred delegates were present, representing all the states west of the Mississippi river.

Morrison predicted an enormous flow of European immigrants to the Pacific coast through the Panama canal.

"When these strangers come—500,000 to 800,000 of them the first year, perhaps," he said, "they will have to find work. If they can't get $3 a day they will take 50 cents, or just enough to buy bread and avoid starvation. By admitting these people you are not only hurting yourselves, but the nations from which they come. If conditions are bad there, the only way they will ever be bettered will be by forcing the dissatisfied workers to remain and fight their own way to victory."

SCHOOLS CREATING SNOBS

Professor Thomas Urges Industrial Education and Manual Training.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—Professor W. W. Thomas of Springfield, Mo., told the state convention of Missouri teachers that the present system of education was creating snobs and snobbiness.

He said that the trend of education was toward the professions and that this tended to inculcate the idea that manual labor is degrading. He urged industrial education and manual training.

A resolution favoring simplified spelling was adopted by a vote of 284 to 256.

Burnham Leaves Million.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—An inventory of the estate of the late Architect Daniel H. Burnham was filed in the probate court, showing assets of $1,103,000, exclusive of stocks in nineteen corporations and bonds in nine others, the value of which was not given.
